Adelaida's seven distinct family owned vineyards lie in the craggy hillside terrain of Paso Robles' Adelaida District, 14 miles from the Pacific coast. Ranging from 1400-2000 feet in elevation, these low yielding vines are challenged by chalky limestone soils, afternoon blasts of marine are and a diurnal temperature swing of 40-50 degrees.

The 2012 vintage presented many challenges. An extreme heat wave hit the Paso Robles region in August, which elevated "brix" sugar levels and concurrently lowered natural fruit acids. With this wine we were able to add the necessary vibrancy through the addition of picpoul blanc, an obscure white variety planted in Adelaida's Anna's Estate Vineyard. The traditional roussanne and grenache blanc are present in the blend as well as viognier, all contributing richness, viscosity and the impression of sweet orchard fruit. The picpoul brings a crisp citrus edge, balancing all the components. Each variety was handled separately, a combination of tank and barrel fermentations with wines resting on their lees for 7-8 months. The complex aromatics show their best served slightly chilled, not overly cold. Drink now through 2015.
