Adelaida's seven distinct, family-owned vineyards lie in the craggy hillside terrain of Paso Robles' Adelaida District, 14 miles from the Pacific coast. Ranging from 1400 - 2000 feet in elevation these low yielding vines are challenged by chalky limestone soils and afternoon blasts of cool marine air, and a diurnal temperature swing of 40-50 degrees.

Location is what makes the Viking Vineyard a prized site, capable of producing wines of piercing fruit concentration. Mountain grown fruit, chalk-rock soils, south facing exposure, and a marine influenced microclimate, are the elements needed to produce a monumental Cabernet Sauvignon.

The worrisome drought and warm vintage of 2013 proved ideal for controlling yields and ripeness. Harvested in at the beginning of September through the middle of the month, grapes were hand-sorted, moved to lot specific, small stainless steel vats, allowed a brief cold soak with juice pump overs continuing to yeast inoculation, and twice daily cap management pump overs and punch downs. This year's winemaking emphasized extended post fermentation maceration, allowing the wine to remain on its skin for 30 days. With elements of a high toned violet nose, black currants, scorched earth, and sweet cedar, this wine is still evolving. Drink now through 2029.
